RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

HPCL invests significantly in research and development (R&D) to stay at the forefront of technological advancements in the lubricants industry. The company's R&D centers are equipped with cutting-edge technology and staffed by experienced scientists and engineers who work tirelessly to develop innovative formulations and enhance product performance.

COMPANY BACKGROUND

Carplan Lubricants was established as a Joint Venture partnership between Carplan Limited (Fully owned subsidiary of Kia Motors Lanka Limited which is a sole distributor of Kia Vehicles and Spareparts in Sri Lanka for the past 27 years) and a Leading Conglomerate (Shipping, logistics etc) to be the distributor, marketer and issuer for HP Lubricants in Sri Lanka. Both partners have a well-established reputation in their respective industries and have collaborated with reputed global brands for many decades. This collaboration brings together years of experience and knowledge. The logistics group is known for its innovative approach and strong market presence, while the automotive company is celebrated for its commitment to quality and customer satisfaction. This partnership leverages the strengths of both entities, creating a powerhouse in the lubricants industry.

VISION

To be a trusted leader in Sri Lanka's lubricant industry, delivering exceptional product quality and achieving 3% market share by 2027, while setting the benchmark for customer satisfaction and reliability.
